

No 11

The Tuilier Fountain

This fountain very much in the style of rustic structures, like many others in the village, also served as a wash house.

Housewives could therefore fulfill these daily chores near their homes.

Even though this part of the village would become less inhabited, this building still bears witness today of a time when villagers would readily exchange with each other to learn of the news of the day instead of reading local newspapers or other sources of information.